

HOLLYWOOD IS HAPPENING!

Back in 2000 when James M. Nederlander invested millions of dollars in a complete renovation of his Pantages Theatre, he had confidence that he was playing an important part in the revitalization of Hollywood.

Today, a decade later, the resurgence of activity in Hollywood surpasses our wildest imaginings. Along with a budding live entertainment scene and glamorous nightclubs, Hollywood is becoming a destination for great dining.

As you are making plans to attend a show at the Pantages Theatre, you're probably thinking about making reservation to enjoy a meal, and we'd like to help. Within these pages you'll find a guide to major restaurants located within a few blocks of the theatre – and we've taken the liberty of featuring a few standout dining experiences which we're pleased to recommend.

Off Vine Restaurant is located just one block south of Sunset and just east of Vine (minutes from the Pantages). We serve California American cuisine with an homage to the comfort foods, unstinting portions and simple elegance of the finest home kitchens across the country. Cozy up to the fireplace in our 1908 craftsman bungalow while feasting on Maple leaf duck breast, turkey meatloaf, sauteed Atlantic salmon or braised short ribs. Relax in our vine wrapped garden during weekend brunch while sipping bottomless mimosas, champagne or bloody marys. But make sure to leave room for our famous dessert souffles... chocolate, raspberry and grand marnier. And if your celebrating a baby shower, wedding shower or holiday party, our upstairs room comfortably holds up to 60 guests while boasting 13 foot coffered ceilings & huge bay windows overlooking the Hollywood Hills and Griffith Park Observatory.
